

FREELANCE DESIGNER, CATERING TO BOUTIQUE & HIGH-END GARMENTS

this position is filled but feel free to connect with us anyways bonjour@workingmenblues.com

we at WorkingMenBlues are looking for a freelance designer to join us on case-by-case design projects based in Amsterdam | manufacturing in China and Eastern Europe | working in the Netherlands, USA

THE JOB

depending on the project and client, we would like your focus on the inspiration, design, and technical file creation of either a single garment or a full collection. each project differs and can be as elaborated as all below responsibilities or as specific as one single design.

creative input this may include a trend report by pictures, sketches, fabric qualities, shopping samples, and/or moodboards design from first sketches to technical design: front, back, and technical specifications technical file material specifications, confection specification, measurements & arrowing, and grading development follow-up evaluation of developments; updating technical file; communicating changes

REQUIREMENTS

experience fashion design; preferably in premium/higher-end fashion; outerwear and/light wovens course background fashion design; creative personality creative, resourceful, organized fluency English; French is an advantage design skills Illustrator or similar design program computer skills basic OS-and MS-programs; excel material knowledge innovative textiles, outerwear, womenswear

TO NOTE

case-by-case we cannot guarantee a certain frequency of projects. the projects are case-by-case location amsterdam but able to work from home if wanted duration different case-by-case small-size company we are start-up with all its positive and negative aspects. although our partners in China as well as our clients consist of large teams, it should be noted that our team in Amsterdam consists of currently 1 full-timer ps we have a love for haute couture and innovative fabrics

WORKINGMENBLUES

we are a sourcing and garment manufacturing company, based in Amsterdam and manufacturing mainly in China. we manufacture ready-to-wear garments for higher-end clothing labels from Europe and the United States. our specialism lies in outerwear and light woven garments. the true added value of our service and structure lies in the part of material sourcing and product development. based on the brand's request we make sure to find or develop the correct materials and products. but we do not only wait for the client's request; we take the lead and execute our own trend development, material sourcing, product development, and design to offer to our clients.