

INTERNSHIP PROJECT POSITION

this position is filled but feel free to connect with us anyways

bonjour@workingmenblues.com

we at WorkingMenBlues are looking for a resourceful and decisive intern to join us in the role of Product Development Assistant based in Amsterdam | manufacturing in China and Eastern Europe | working in the Netherlands, USA

THE JOB

you will assist WMB's owner in various projects and tasks depending on your skills and our day-to-day needs, you will be helping in design, material and supplier sourcing, product development, production follow-up, as well as our online presence.

- sourcing materials and fabric mills. contact by web and email; visit showrooms
- materials evaluate received materials; update fabric library; prepare swatches to present out
- product development measuring and evaluating received samples
- administrative executing and databasing of shipments, material library; sample comments
- communication daily follow-up with fabric suppliers, partner factories, and clients
- design and trend dev prepare client-focused designs and/or reports; online and offline trend hunting
- marketing up-keeping of online presence: tumblr, facebook, linkedIn, pinterest

REQUIREMENTS

- currently enrolled in/recently graduated at uni (of applied sciences)
- course background creative or fashion/textile-related
- personality organized, resourceful, creative
- fluency English. French is an advantage
- computer skills basic OS-and MS-programs: excel
- basic knowledge Photoshop, Illustrator, InDesign or similar

TO NOTE

starting date january 2016, open to discuss location amsterdam duration minimum of 5 months small-size company we are a start-up with all its positive and negative aspects. although our partners in China as well as our clients consist of large teams, it should be noted that our team in Amsterdam consists of exactly 1 full-timer. ps we have a love for haute couture and innovative fabrics

WORKINGMENBLUES

we are a sourcing and garment manufacturing company, based in Amsterdam and manufacturing mainly in China. we manufacture ready-to-wear garments for higher-end clothing brands from Europe and the United States. our specialism lies in outerwear and light weight garments. the true added value of our service and structure lies in the part of material sourcing and product development. based on the brand's request we are sure to find or develop the correct materials and products. but we do not only wait for the client's request; we take the lead and execute our own trend development, material sourcing, product development, and design to offer to our clients.